

Tips to a Good Pollinator Garden

Use plants that provide food, nectar and pollen sources

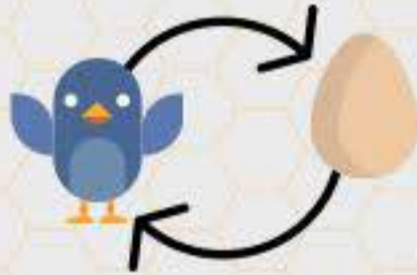

Create large masses of native or non-invasive plants

Establish continuous bloom throughout the growing season

Provide a water source

Be situated in sunny areas with wind breaks

Eliminate or minimize the impact of pesticides and herbicides

Support the full life cycle—contain both food sources for immature pollinators and nectar sources for adult pollinators

Plant in full sun

